GREAT CHARITY ENTERPRISE

The big bazar for the benefit of Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital will open at noon next Wednesday and will continue until Saturday night. The First Regiment Armory is to be used for the bazar, and it is believed that the capacity of that building will be taxed every evening.
Everything is in readiness for the opening. Each committee is ready for work. The day and the hour is all that is now necessary.

The coming bazar will mark an epoch in the Catholic history of Louisville, because from every standpoint it promises to be the greatest work of charity ever undertaken by Catholics in the Falls cities. Every committee is working in perfect accord with the general management under the direction of Col. John H.
Whallen. Non-Catholics have been particularly clever in making donations and offering their services in aid of the cause. Major Kerrick has offered the services of the members of the First Regiment and the offer has been accepted with thanks. The ladies' committees are as follows:

PNEUMONIA PROVES FATAL.

George Nolan, a prominent Elk, a leading plumber and a member of an old Irish Catholic family in Louisville, died at the family residence, 1135 South First street, on Wednesday evening. He had been ill only five days and suffered from typhoid pneumonia. Mr. Nolan was born in Louisville forty-eight years ago, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Nolan. Besides his parents he is survived by the following brothers and sisters: William J. Nolan, of the firm of Humler & Nolan; James and Frank Nolan, with whom he was associated in business; Robert and Dally Nolan, of New York, and Mrs. Walter Hyde and Miss Mamie Nolan. The funeral took place from St. Mary Magdalen church on Friday morning.

INITIATION

Big Class Gives Mackin's Men Field For Action.

Hon. Samuel L. Robertson presided over a well attended meeting of Mackin Council last Monday evening. Of course the main theme of discussion during the evening was the initiation that is to take place tomorrow. Eleven applications were received, bringing the class up to an aggregate of sixty-one. Among the candidates is the Rev. Father Philip Brady, recently from Ireland, and a young priest of great zeal and energy.

The Opera Committee reported that rehearsals for the annual entertainment were in progress. The Federation Committee made an elaborate report, and the Library Board reported that a number of new magazines had been secured for the library. Eugene Cooney, of Trinity Council, addressed Mackin's members on "Church Extension and the Chapel Car."

The initiation tomorrow afternoon will be held at the club house and will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.
The degrees will be exemplified by the State degree team directed by Supreme Vice President Robert T.
Burke.

In the evening at 7 o'clock the old and new members of the council will assemble at the Louisville Hotel for a banquet. An elegant menu has been arranged. Dr. A. R. Bizot will be the toastmaster.

The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Seraphim Schlang, O. M. C. The toasts and those who will respond to them are as follows: "Y. M. I. Day," Hon. Samuel L. Robertson; "Home," Irvington Earl; "Youngsters," Thomas D.
Clines; "The Young Man," Very Rev. James P. Cronin, V. G.; "Are You Progressive?" Supreme Vice President Robert T. Burke; "Our New Members," Patrick T. Sullivan.
The Rev. Father C. P. Raffo has promised to deliver an address if an emergency does not arise. Arrangements have been made with the Louisville Railway Company to have cars at the club house at 6:30 o'clock to convey the members to the Louisville Hotel.

One very important part of tomorrow's celebration is that Mackin's members will approach holy communion in a body at the 6:30 o'clock mass at St. Cecilia's church.

LABOR'S RIGHTS

Defended by Judge of the United States Circuit Court.

Judge Francis E. Baker, of the United States Circuit Court, delivered an address before the Chicago Bar Association last Saturday that is well worthy of study. He had a message not only for the members of the bar, but for employers and employees. Judge Baker's address was delivered at a banquet given in honor of Judge Julian Mack, who was recently appointed associate justice of the Commerce Court. Judge Baker discussed the rights of capital and labor and said in part:

"Without the aid of statute the courts have long since become agreed that workmen have the lawful right to organize for the purpose of securing improvement in the terms and conditions of labor and to quit work and to threaten to quit work as means of compelling or attempting to compel employers to accede to their demands. The capitalist asserts his right to an unobstructed access to the labor market so as to get his work done and thus free himself from the demands of his opponents. The workmen assert their right to an unobstructed access to the labor market so as to keep others out of their places. The sympathetic strike, like the spite fence, must be suffered by the employer without complaint. Therefore persuasion and picketing in order to learn who the new employees are to whom to present their cause are lawful, and all judgments to the contrary are wrong. I believe. One set of rules should govern the actions of both contestants. If the sympathetic strike is a foul blow the sympathetic lockout is equally foul.
If the boycott is held to be an attack in the rear under the circumstances a blacklist is an attack in the rear."

MERITED PROMOTION.

A. H. Egan, for several years Superintendent of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central railroad, has been made Superintendent of that company's Southern lines with headquarters at Memphis. It is quite a promotion for Mr. Egan, and while his friends are sorry to lose him, they are proud that he has earned a better berth. He will be succeeded here by L. E. McCabe.

BIGOTRY

In the South Is Not Confined to Any One State Says Priest.

Narrowminded People Responsible For the Shameful Conditions.

Why Mother Church Grows More Rapidly in the North.

WATSON AND HIS MAGAZINE

That Hon. Ben Johnson, of Nelson county, Kentucky, is not the only man in the South to be ostracized on account of his Catholicism, is evident from the fact that the International Catholic Truth Society has just issued a little pamphlet from its press in New York on a similar subject. The pamphlet is from the pen of the Rev. Father Lucian Johnston, a Southerner as well as a Catholic priest. His work is entitled "The Shame of It." The author deals with the entire South as Hon. Ben Johnson deals with Kentucky. Except in unity of thought there is no particular connection between the complaints of Father Johnston and Ben Johnson.

Father Johnston's little pamphlet is a direct appeal to the good sense and common decency of the people of the Southern race who profess Protestantism. The immediate purpose is to call their attention to the vile publication of Watson's Jeffersonian Magazine published monthly at Thomson, Ga. Month after month this magazine has been pouring out gallons of vitriolic poison, immoral suggestions and worn-out calumnies against the Catholic church and its members. In a strong and stirring way Father Johnston appeals to their decency to suppress such vile methods of indecency. Without mincing his words he expresses the very plain fact that silence on the part of the ministry gives consent to it all. He but asks that they fight fair and seriously points out to them the inevitable conclusion of it all, that judging by the experience of past centuries the effect of such persecution and malice in the long run will be as detrimental to Protestantism and their common Christianity as to the struggling Catholic community in their midst.

The appeal, if read, can not fail to awaken the conscience of the Southern people, coming as it does from a Southern priest, the son of Richard Malcolm Johnston, a real benefactor of the South. The days of Northern bigotry are past. This pamphlet should prove effective in clearing the air of intolerance in the South.

"The Shame of It" is appealing to the higher principles of the Protestants of the South in accepting and tolerating the malicious bigotry of Thomas Watson, of Georgia. Men who know little about the Catholic church sometimes express surprise at its rapid growth in the northern part of the United States and its slow progress in the Southern States. Catholic truth has had its long struggles in the North. Bigotry, malicious lying and intolerant legislation, all arose and threw their weight against the Catholic church in every Northern State within the last century and many an injustice and horror resulted. But the strength of the faith and the magnificent power of endurance on the part of Catholics have almost completely rid the air of the poisonous gases of bigotry and religious intolerance.

The peace and harmony of the church in the North is a crown and a reward won on many a bitter field.
In the slow progressing South the battle is still going on. Poverty and the scarcity of priests and churches have been fertile ground for the spread of religious bigotry. The Catholic church, capable of winning the approval of the most learned as well as the most illiterate, has had to meet in the South the most unfavorable and hard-headed conditions it has ever been confronted with. Not because of its depths of learning or because of its illiteracy or lack of refinement, but because there has been a complete ridderous opposition. Bigotry most rampant. Intolerance and absolutely detestable outrages have been thrown in her pathway.

A century of abuse and misrepresentation of the Catholic church has just passed. Men bearing the titles of the ministry of the Protestant churches, apparently sincere in their own beliefs, have constantly in speech in writing thrown aside all the rules of decency and truth whenever they referred to the Catholic church, with the result that it is almost universally despised, hated and misunderstood in these parts.
The zealous missionary touching the most virgin soul of the interior of North Carolina or Georgia will be confronted by the commonest type of ignorant farmer with the words:
"Indeed, Mr. Priest, I know all about you. I have read 'Thirty Years in Hell' and you can't come around to fool me." Surely the devil has worked overtime in the South through the hands of the missionaries, ministers and acid-penned editors.

XAVIERIAN PROVINCIAL HERE.

The Rev. Brother Isidore, Provincial of the Xaverians, spent several days here in the latter part of last week as the guest of the local institutions conducted by his order, St. Xavier College and St. Lawrence Institute. Brother Isidore received his early education in Louisville and later joined the Xaverians. For a number of years he was head of the college here. Now he is at the head of his order in the United States.

Many business and professional men in this city owe their early training to Brother Isidore. He returned to Baltimore early this week.

NON-CATHOLICS

Attend Lectures Given by Father Sutton at Rockport.

A friend writes to inform the readers of the Kentucky Irish American that a successful mission to non-Catholics at Rockport, Ind., was brought to a close last Sunday afternoon. The lectures were all given at the Rockport Court House, and the speaker was the Rev. Father Xavier Sutton, C. P., of Louisville.
Father Sutton did not deal in flowery eloquence, but made his every statement so clear and simple that the most ignorant could not be mistaken in his meaning.

The first of the series of lectures was given at 2:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, February 5.
Father Sutton was presented to the crowd by Louis N. Savage, a lawyer and a non-Catholic. Mr. Savage showed a good spirit and a broad mind, and his remarks were well chosen.

The crowd in the Court House was an eye-opener for some of the Catholics who had looked on the work with disfavor and prophesied a frost, but instead it met with the warmest welcome. After the lecture many books were distributed and more called for. Every one seemed to be in the best of humor and some parties went up to Father Sutton to tell him how pleased they were and their desire to hear more about the church. The crowd increased in size as the lectures continued. Some people came from Kentucky, crossing the Ohio river in skiffs. Many came from the country and surrounding towns, while some came twelve and sixteen miles to hear them. It was an interesting sight to look at the crowd gathered in the Court House. There were all classes of people, young and old, mothers with young babies, old men hardly able to walk and bright young fellows full of life and vigor. Many had never seen much of a priest, because when Father Sutton came wearing his religious habit there was a strange look in the faces of many. Some smiled and nudged their neighbors, some looked scared and some with wide-open eyes stared in wonder. They were mostly plain, good people.
The leading men of the town were there with their wives.

Every night Father Sutton had a large number of questions to answer. They were not of a very difficult nature, but plain, simple difficulties that non-Catholics have in regard to the Catholic church. The lecture on hell produced a profound impression; at times during it, as one of the priests present remarked, the people were afraid even to breathe lest they might miss a word.
After it was over a Methodist minister remarked "That was a good Methodist sermon." Another one said, "It's a pity we do not have more sermons like that."

Every night there was a special musical programme, non-Catholics taking part as well as Catholics.
One good effect of the mission which is clearly visible to everyone is the effect on the Catholics. They were of a quiet, unobtrusive class, satisfied to go to church and hear mass and receive the sacraments, but with little zeal for those outside the fold.
Now they are all filled with life and enthusiasm, each one, young and old, vying with one another to make things pleasant for the non-Catholics and to show they are Catholics. This alone is a great good for a parish.
Some one may ask, "Have any converts been made?" Yes, and more are coming in God's good time.

HIGH HONORS

In Store For Dr. Maurice F. Egan in the Near Future.

Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, Minister to Denmark, will sail from Copenhagen for the United States next Thursday. He is coming to this country to deliver a course of lectures at the University of Notre Dame and at the Johns Hopkins University. His themes will embrace certain phases of literary criticism in which he is an authority.

On his arrival in the United States final arrangements will be made for conferring on him the Laetare medal, which Notre Dame awarded him last year. The presentation of the medal will probably take place in Washington, D. C., and will be made the occasion of a brilliant function.

Dr. Egan is one of the most efficient members of the diplomatic corps of the United States, and his services abroad received high praise from both Theodore Roosevelt and President Taft. For many years he was engaged in Catholic newspaper work and was later Professor of English Literature at the University of Notre Dame and at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C.

REQUIEM

Services Over Remains of Arch-Bishop Ryan Drew Crowds.

Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots and Other Dignitaries Were Present.

Cardinal Gibbons Gave Final Absolution at the Service.

MOURNED BY ALL CLASSES

The funeral services over the remains of Archbishop Patrick John Ryan were held in the Cathedral at Philadelphia on Thursday morning.
Probably never in the history of Philadelphia was there such a gathering of church dignitaries. The solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by the Right Rev. Bishop Prendergast, Auxiliary to the late Archbishop. His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons gave the final absolution.
The sermon was preached by the Most Rev. John J. Glennon, the Archbishop of St. Louis.

Archbishop Ryan died about 4:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. He seemed conscious to the end. When those assembled around his bedside began the prayers for the dying he murmured, "God bless you." A few seconds before he passed away the dying prelate whispered, "With God." His death was announced to the people of Philadelphia by the tolling of the Cathedral bell. A cable message was immediately sent to Pope Pius X. and telegrams to all members of the hierarchy in the United States. The funeral services were deferred until Thursday to allow Archbishops and Bishops from distant parts of the United States to attend. Pope Pius sent a special message of condolence to the clergy and people of the archdiocese.

The remains were brought into the Cathedral Wednesday afternoon and the coffin was placed on a cata-falque in front of the main altar.
While the remains lay in state hundreds of thousands of people visited the Cathedral to take their last look at the dead prelate.
Night and day there was a guard of honor beside the coffin. These guards were chosen from members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Knights of Columbus, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Knights of St. John and other societies of Catholics that had been fostered and encouraged by the late Archbishop.

After the requiem services the coffin containing the remains was entombed behind the main altar of the Cathedral and beside those of Bishops Egan and Conwell and Archbishop Wood. All of the Archbishops and Bishops in the United States who were able to travel attended the funeral service. Besides there were Abbots, Monsignori and Provincials and Priors of many different orders in the sanctuary.

Archbishop Ryan died a martyr to self-imposed duty. From Thursday day until Christmas he was confined to his home by an attack of heart disease. On Christmas he insisted on celebrating the Pontifical mass in the Cathedral as had been his custom. As a result he suffered another heart attack. Despite his physician's orders Archbishop Ryan attended the memorial services on January 8 for the thirteen firemen killed in a recent conflagration.
"I gave my promise," he said, "and I am going to keep it. Besides I want to go." He went to the services, but the effort was too much for him. He returned home very ill and never left the house again.
Among his last words were those of St. Paul: "Be with Christ to be dissolved and to be with Christ."

Archbishop Ryan stood high with men of all classes. President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt were his personal friends, and he was on terms of friendship with men of all religions, and more than one Hebrew rabbi was proud of the Archbishop's acquaintance. There is not a man of any religion who knew Archbishop Ryan who will not join with the Catholics in saying "May he rest in peace and may perpetual light shine upon him."

KNIGHTS ARE ACTIVE.

St. Paul Council, Knights of Columbus, is preparing for the erection of its own home in the stately city of St. Paul, and it is said that contracts for the new structure will be let in March. Two years ago the council purchased a site in a central section of the city. That site was being paid for and $40,000 in bonds has been issued and disposed of for the erection of the building. Now it is proposed to dispose of more bonds and to take over the building free of debt within a year.

FUNERAL OF OWEN M'BRIDE.

The funeral of Owen McBride, a prominent local fire insurance agent, took place from St. Louis Bertrand church on Tuesday morning.
Mr. McBride died at his home, 1343 South Second street, at noon on Sunday. He had been ill several weeks and his death was not unexpected.
The deceased was born in Ireland seventy-one years ago, but came to America when quite a youth. He learned the trade of cabinet making but abandoned it more than thirty years ago to become an agent for P. Viglini & Co., dealers in fire insurance. Mr. McBride was an exemplary Christian man and served several years as President of St.

Patrick's Conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Sallie Perry, and the following children: John O., William J., Robert C. McBride, all of Louisville; Miles C. McBride, of Washington; Martin J. McBride, of Chicago, and Misses Carrie, Mary, Alice, Sallie May and Nellie Beatrice McBride, of this city. Two brothers also survive.
They are James McBride, of Louisville, and Martin McBride, of Madison, Ind.

ENJOYABLE.

Catholic Knights and Ladies Entertained by Branch 10.

There was a sure enough big meeting of Branch 10, Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, in the school hall of St. Frances of Rome church in Clifton last Monday evening. The presence of Miss Mary E. Sheridan, Supreme Deputy, was a magnate that attracted many.
President Joseph X. Kessick presided and Miss Mamie Hannan served as Secretary. All of the other officers were present and two applications for membership were received. Besides the Supreme Deputy several visitors from other branches were present.

The Rev. Father Thomas W.
White, pastor of St. Frances of Rome church and Spiritual Director of Branch 10, welcomed the visitors in a most happy manner and assured them that their hosts were grateful for the visit. He also expressed the hope that Branch 10 would continue the good work that it has done. Father White said that the success of Branch 10 had been due to the careful selection of its officers. The speaker is a charter member of the branch and has represented it at several Supreme conventions.

Miss Mary E. Sheridan presided at the installation of the new officers of Branch 10, and some of the officers of other branches. Miss Sheridan also complimented Branch 10 on the splendid attendance and said it was the best she had witnessed since her appointment as State Deputy. She also briefly reviewed the history of the order.
Among those who addressed the meeting were Andrew Kast, Misses Katie Henley and Mamie Hannan, Mrs. Andrew Kast, Mrs. Matt Cunniffe and Joseph X. Kessick. At the close of the business session there was a musical programme and then refreshments. All left the hall delighted and promising fealty to Branch 10.

Veto of Lords Will Be Debated in Commons Next Week.

Timothy Healy Overstepped Himself in North Louth.

UNIONISTS ARE DISORGANIZED

This is the second week of the present session of Parliament and, like the first, it has been enlivened by debates on reciprocity and home rule for Ireland. To make the situation still more interesting Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons on Monday that he would introduce the Government veto measure on the following Monday. As evidence that the Government intends to push that measure Hon.
John W. Gulland, the Scottish Liberal "whip," in a speech at Edinburgh on Monday afternoon said that he was even then busy compiling a list of men who would accept Peerages with the object of passing the veto bill in the House of Lords in the event the Peers prove recalcitrant.

On the same day Hon. Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, was asked in the House of Commons what measure of home rule for Ireland did the Government propose.
Mr. Birrell replied: "The entire reconstruction of the Irish administration." Vigorous Nationalist cheers greeted the reply of Mr. Birrell, as it was indicated to mean that Irish legislation may be undertaken sooner than was expected.

The Tories are about to play their last cards. They are endeavoring to enlist the support of William O'Brien and his followers. It is the intention to offer an amendment to the home rule measure demanding to know precisely what measure of home rule the Government proposes, and complaining that the Ministers have made such contradictory declarations that no one knows what home rule means. It is really it is an anti-home rule measure. If O'Brien and his seven followers support the amendment it will indicate their secession to Unionism and dependence on the Union party.

Last week the cable brought the announcement that the election in North Louth had been declared void and that Richard Haleson, a Nationalist, had been unseated in favor of Timothy Healy. O'Brien's chief lieutenant. This was only partial true. In the recent election Healy was defeated by more than 1,000 votes, and so great was the fear against him that he was assau-led by the polls in Dundalk.

JUST A LITTLE EARLY.

It is too soon yet to even speculate on the successor of Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, but the speculators of the daily press have picked out the Right Rev. Monsignor Thomas F. Kennedy, Rector of the American College in Rome and titular Bishop of Adrianapolis, to fill the archdiocese of the Quaker City. There is no doubt that Bishop Kennedy is eminently qualified to fill the exalted position. Besides he is a former Philadelphia and understands the people. Frequently the minds of those that rule the Vatican are at variance with the minds of those who would make Bishops, Archbishops and Cardinals.

Bishop Kennedy came to the United States during the Christmas holidays and spent a large part of his time in Philadelphia. He was a friend and protégé of Archbishop Ryan. During his regime as Rector of the American College, Bishop Kennedy has been the intermediary between Pope Plus X. and the greater part of the English speaking countries. He has acquitted himself well in every task he has undertaken. There is no question as to his fitness for the archiepiscopacy, but there is always doubt until Rome announces the appointment.

HOME RULE AT LAST.

The best news that has come to Irishmen since St. Patrick brought them the light of faith was the announcement of Premier Asquith in Parliament on Wednesday that the Government intended to carry out a policy of full self-government for Ireland. He added: "We never for one moment have retracted or receded from that position." He maintained that the only satisfactory solution of the problem of the congestion of business in the House of Commons was the creation of an Irish Parliament, with an Irish executive responsibility thereto, for dealing with purely Irish affairs, while maintaining the supremacy of the British Parliament unimpaired.

Hon. John E. Redmond followed and welcomed the declaration of the Premier and said it would in his opinion mean the final settlement of a vexed question. Even the recalcitrant William O'Brien came to the front for the measure and promised the Premier the hearty co-operation of the party. Augustine Birrell, Secretary for Ireland, said "Ireland can do justice to her own people." He promised that the Government's home rule scheme would be placed before the House of Commons as soon as the Parliament had passed.

SIZED UP PROPERLY.

It is so many people will read of an Irish paper or a paper that they will not read of a secular journal? The Boston Hibernian has been writing on this subject and line of printed matter in newspaper costs its publisher something. If it is to benefit some individual that individual should something for it. One would go into a grocery store to ask proprietor to hand out ten pounds of sugar for nothing, even though the gift may not be a large one. If the beneficiary of advertisement does not pay for it the proprietor should shoulder the cost. People do not seem to understand that a newspaper pays its expenses by renting and that it is just as much to collect rent for every space is occupied as a rent is for the house he rents.

Other editors agree with our people have not been up to the point that would believe editors eat and sleep. Too many have the editor is a sort of being that lives on

ICS IN KENTUCKY.

Shinnick, the editor of the Shelby Record, recent issue: "According to a friend of Mr. Shinnick, the editor of the Shelby Record, we will say that he is not win if he is taste of the majority of Democrats in Louisville. There are very few who believe that Mr. McCreary can win the nomination. There are many who believe he is either directly or indirectly responsible for the war of religious bigotry waged against Col. Ben Johnson. There are few if any Democrats now who believe Mr. McCreary could be elected Governor were he nominated. Without doubt James McCreary is the weakest man in the race today.

The editors of the various papers throughout the State have commented on Mr. Johnson's withdrawal. Many of the comments have been of a complimentary nature. The editor of the Louisville Evening Post alone undertook to tell the Catholics that they must trust to "Protestants, true Protestants." If he did not mean what he said in his issue of February 6 why does he not explain what he did mean? His latest policy is to soft-soap the Catholics one day and stab them from behind the next.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN?

The much touted Board of School Commissioners is complaining because there is lack of school room, and has arranged a scheme for having morning and afternoon sessions, but it has not provided ways and means to pay teachers and janitors for the extra five hours' work entailed each day. Suppose the Catholic parochial schools, colleges and academies would close their doors. The 15,000 Catholic school children would have to be educated somewhere. What would the Board of School Commissioners do about it? How would it meet the emergency?

JOHN LEAHY'S CASE.

Certain bigots and immigrant baiters in the United States want an educational test for the foreigners that come to our shores. Is it necessary? A few days ago there died in New York a man who had made more than $1,000,000. His name was John Leahy and he was born in Ireland seventy years ago. He was never able to read or write, but what he lacked in book-learning he made up in native shrewdness and judgment of men. His life was an exemplary one and he was respected by millionaire and laborer. He bequeathed a great part of his fortune to works of charity. His life shows that an educational test is not necessary to good citizenship.

Hon. Michael C. Thornton, New Albany's Representative in the Indiana Legislature, has done many things to commend him to the people since he began to serve as a senator, but his bill to reduce the penalty for burglary from two to fourteen years will work only evil. As the law stands now the punishment for the crime is imprisonment from ten to twenty years. It is none too severe. The man who is daring enough to commit burglary would have no hesitancy to commit murder.

A private detective in Paducah says he knows the name of a man who committed a murder; that he has known it since last September, and that he has not divulged it because no reward was offered for the apprehension of the murderer. Truly he is a splendid detective, one of the kind that is out for blood money.

SACRED HEART CHURCH.

Forty Hours' prayer will begin at Sacred Heart church, Seventeenth and Broadway, at the 10 o'clock mass tomorrow and will close on Tuesday. Rev. Father Patrick Walsh will be assisted by several local priests during the devotions, which at this church are always largely attended.

Milton Marblestone, general manager of the Big Store, was summoned to Cincinnati on Thursday on account of the death of his father, Emanuel Marblestone. The senior Marblestone was seventy-eight years of age and was a respected citizen of Cincinnati. Louisville friends of the son sympathize with him in his bereavement.

Of much interest in society circles is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Hess, the accomplished and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hess, and Ray Bizot, one of the most promising young members of the legal fraternity of this city. The date for their marriage has not yet been set.

Mrs. Ben J. Sand and her niece, Miss Mary O'Neill, have returned from Wheeling, where they went to visit Miss O'Neill's father, James O'Neill. Mr. O'Neill was employed on a steamboat when a rope that was drawn too taut snapped and an end striking him broke his leg. At last accounts he was resting as comfortably as possible under the circumstances.

The marriage of Miss Carrie Zoeller and Louis Groll, well known young people of the western section of the city, was solemnized Thursday by the Rev. John Sheridan at Holy Cross rectory. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 337 Greenwood avenue, where many friends assembled to tender congratulations. The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in New Orleans, where they will remain until after the Mardi Gras celebration.

INFANT'S DEATH MOURNED.

The deepest sympathy is expressed for the parents and grandparents of Claudia Blackwood, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Blackwood and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cusaden. The little one passed away on Wednesday. The dear little baby was only four months old, yet had wound the tendrils of her affection around the hearts of parents and grandparents. The young mother was formerly Miss Stella Cusaden. The funeral took place from the residence of the grandfather, George W. Cusaden, 545 South Second street, on Friday afternoon.

Having accomplished his mission there he came to Kentucky to spend a few days with his old friend, Abbot Obrecht.

EXILE M'BRIDE

Dies Before His Greatest Ambition Is Quite Realized.

John J. McBride, famous the country over as "Exile" McBride, died in Buffalo last week. There were few Irishmen in America who did not know "Exile" McBride either personally or by reputation. He was the author of numerous proclamations and father of the 50,000 name home rule petition addressed to the British Government and signed by leading Americans.

McBride participated in the Fenian uprising in 1862 and had to flee from Ireland. While attempting to make his way to the United States he was arrested and sent to Van Dieman's land for life. He escaped from prison there and finally landed in America in time to take part in the Fenian invasion of Canada in 1867.

The "Exile" was considered eccentric, but none doubted his earnestness in the cause of his native land. His one ambition was to see home rule for Ireland before he died.

RELATIVES HEAR OF DEATH.

Louisville relatives have been notified of the death of Thomas O'Donnell at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Powers, in Columbus, Ohio, on Tuesday. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Catherine Beadley, of this city, and an uncle of Mrs. Mary T. Barrett, Mrs. Annie Mallon, Mrs. B. J. Kavanaugh and Mrs. William L. Hannon. Mr. O'Donnell was born in the County Galway, Ireland, seventy years ago. When quite a youth he came to America and for a number of years resided in Louisville. He was well and favorably known to many of the older members of St. John's parish. Over thirty years ago he moved to Columbus and resided there until his death. His last visit to Louisville was made seven years ago. He is survived by five children.

It contains no morphine or other anodyne poisons, which are so dangerous in other cough remedies. These poisonous cough remedies frequently ruin children, making them weaklings for life. BONDS.
The general mortgage for the new 5 per cent, four-year bonds was properly executed, and a total of record was on February 1, 1910; and 1,500 of these bonds, amounting to $1,500,000, were sold to a local syndicate, the same being delivered from time to time during the year, as suited the purchaser. The proceeds of these bonds were used to purchase the securities of the Louisville and Eastern Railroad Company, for the account of the Louisville and Interurban Railroad Company, and to pay for improvements made on the property of the Louisville Railway Company.

The lines of this company were operated during the year 1910 by the receiver, and were sold at public auction on January 2, 1911, by order of the Federal Court, purchased by the Louisville and Interurban Railroad Company, turned over to said company on the 18th of January, and the same is now being operated by the Louisville and Interurban Railroad Company.

In addition to this much work was done on account of construction by the over Commissioners and street repairs by the city, together with necessary repairs and renewals of special work on our own account.
